'London is a huge city. No one church or one organisation can impact the whole city. We need to work together to see the city we love transformed.'

Andy Frost
Chair, London Mission Collective

The London Mission Collective is a growing family of organisations with a passion to join God in His mission across London. We are all practitioners with a passion to serve, encourage and equip others to reach the city for Christ.

Our aim is to resource leaders and churches in mission across London. Our hope is to provide people with the tools and relationships they need to serve their local community with the gospel and introduce people to Jesus.

A gift towards the Collective will help us:

- Communicate what is happening across the city, strategically sharing fresh ideas and best practice.
- Pioneer new initiatives for the capital, resourcing leaders and churches in mission across London.
- Catalyse a missional culture across the capital with collaborative relationships between networks, organisations and churches.
